

JIM PARK IS GIVEN GOOD COMMITTEES

Madison Representative Is Well Taken Care of By Speaker—Senate Adopts Rules

Probably no republican member of the House at Frankfort received more favorable consideration in the appointment to committees than James Park, who represents Madison in the lower branch of the General Assembly.

Speaker Thompson was especially nice to Mr. Park. He is placed on a number of important committees, having seven assignments altogether. His list of committees is as follows: Codes of Practice; Cities of the Second and Third Class; Education No. 1; Military Affairs; Normal Schools; Racing; and State University.

Only one republican was named on the important Rules Committee—Joe F. Bosworth, of Bell county, who was speaker two years ago when the republicans controlled the House, and is the republican floor leader this time. There are 15 members on the Rules Committee this year.

Speaker James H. Thompson, of Paris ex-officio, chairman; Claude D. Minor, of Perryville; ranking members: Arch L. Hamilton, Lexington; G. Lucien Drury, Morganfield; Charles A. Nelson, White Mills; Ira D. Smith, Hopkinsville; Lee L. Simons, Louisville; Henry Lawrence, Cadiz; Harry J. Meyers, Covington; J. F. Brown, Shelbyville; David J. Howard, Versailles; Samuel W. Bosworth, Middletown; and W. M. Bowling, Brandenburg.

In the Senate, rules of procedure were adopted. By a party vote of 19 to 15 the recommendation of the Rules Committee, putting it in power for the final 20 days of the session, instead of 15, as in previous sessions, was adopted.

Senator John A. Lee, of Owen county, who will introduce the anti-betting bill Tuesday, objected to a change in the rules, whereby the words "or preliminary" were stricken out from the provision which is designed to prevent a member from voting on a measure in which he has a "personal or private" interest. The additional word, "preliminary," is not in the constitution, for which reason the Rules Committee decided that it should not be in the rules of the Senate, which, it contended, should not go beyond the language of the state constitution.

Rising to comment on this rule, Senator Lee said that whenever a bill affecting any corporation or interest was before the Senate he wanted Senator William A. Perry, of Louisville, president pro tem of that branch, to decide whether or not any member was interested, directly or indirectly, in the measure, or whether his connection was such as to justify his exclusion from voting on the bill.

Senator Perry, as chairman of the rules committee, said that he would not attempt to act as censor of any other member's right to vote. "That is a question for the individual Senator to decide, or for the Senate itself to consider," is the way he regarded it.

After the Senate adjourned, Senator Lee said that his inquiry was made in connection with the proposed anti-betting legislation, affecting race tracks. "I am opposed to all forms of betting, either by pari-mutuels, as now practiced, or by bookmakers, as in some other states," said Mr. Lee. "I have heard that some members of the legislature are either now on the payroll of the race tracks, or have been so employed recently. I don't think they should have the right to vote on the bill, and will so indicate at the proper time."

When asked if he intended to introduce an anti-racing measure, Mr. Lee said that he has a bill which he will bring into the Senate tomorrow, "unless some other Senator does so first."

Senator Hiram Brock, of Harlan, republican leader in the Senate, objected to the change in the rules which gives the Rules Committee twenty, instead of fifteen days, to control measures during the final stages of the session, and also said that the Rules Committee should not have the sole right to introduce bills during that period, which is expressly

Senator Perry called attention of Senator Brock to the fact that this provision was in the rules of the 1920 session, with the exception that control was only fifteen days. "We want the Rules Committee to have the power of 20 days," said Senator Perry. "In order that it may carry out the mandate of the people, as expressed at the recent election, which put the responsibility on the democratic party. We want to be able to pass necessary bills prior to the time that the governor will be able to hold a measure until adjournment. He has the right to keep a bill on his desk for ten days, and in order that the Senate may act on any possible executive vetoes, we are asking for the extra five days."

BIG ROAD BOND ISSUE TO VOTE OF PEOPLE

State Engineer Boggs Behind Proposition That Legislature Will Be Asked to Submit

A bill authorizing citizens of the state to vote on a $50,000,000 bond issue in the early fall thru which a modern system of roads will be constructed in Kentucky within 5 years, will be submitted to the General Assembly next week, it was said last night. The measure is likely to be introduced in the House of Representatives Tuesday.

The bill, which has been drawn by M. M. Logan, former Attorney General, was approved by the good roads officials at a conference yesterday afternoon. Those who attended the session and discussed the provisions were State Senator White L. Moss, of Pineville, and Hiram Brock, of Harlan, Robert J. McBryde, Jr., of Louisville, Joe S. Boggs, Highway Engineer and Mr. Logan.

Under provisions of the bill to raise funds for the perfection of the primary road system of 4,000 miles as authorized by the legislature in 1920, officials said maintenance of the roads and payment of the interest and retirement of bonds through establishment of a sinking fund can be taken care of without raising additional revenue above that the state now annually receives for road purposes. It is provided in the measure that the bonds shall not bear more than 5 per cent interest, but officials believe that the issue can be floated and sold with the bonds bearing 4 per cent. The bonds, under the plan, will be issued at the rate of $10,000,000 a year for 5 years and it is said the average life of the bond will be 15 years. The bonds will be retired in 30 years.

Of the $50,000,000 issue $8,000,000 will be devoted to the State Fair, the University of Kentucky, the three normal schools and the charitable and penal institution of the state.

TOBACCO GRADES ABOUT WORKED OUT

Standard grades for the tobacco in the control of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association have been worked out and it is probable that this part of the work will be completed by Tuesday, it was said at the association headquarters, at Lexington, Monday.

The remainder of the personnel of the association also will be announced within a day or two.

With the working out of the grading system the selection of the graders is practically all that remains to put the system into effect and President James C. Stone's statement Saturday that the officers hoped to have the warehouses open for the reception of the pooled tobacco within the next few days indicates that progress is being made toward that goal of the organized growers.

No information was obtainable as to the financing of the crop, but as plenty of financial assistance has been offered the association, including that from local banks, as well as federal financial sources, officials have not evidently been worried much with that problem.

TWO MORE NORMAL SCHOOLS PROPOSED

Move On Foot In Legislature To Establish Two More In Different Sections

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 10—Establishment of two normal schools for the training of white elementary teachers upon condition that gifts of land, money or buildings are forthcoming from the communities in which the institutions are located, will be asked of the legislature during the present session.

The act will ask for an annual appropriation of $30,000 for each of the schools for maintenance operation, this money to be forthcoming only when the State Board of Education shall have received gifts of buildings or money or suitable lands to the sum of $100,000. The schools are to be under the supervision of the State Board of Education and one is to be located in the eastern part and the other in the western part of the state.

It is indicated that rivalry will make its appearance in the location of the schools as many cities and towns in each section already have expressed a desire that the institutions be located in their particular county. It is understood from authoritative sources that at least one Kentucky town has offered lands and buildings to the project, should the legislature act favorably.

Several things will be taken into consideration in the location of the schools, inducements offered by the community; geographical location; accessibility, and needs will be carefully considered before final location is decided upon. The act provides that if gifts are forthcoming from one section of the state that the institution may be established there and receive the annual appropriation regardless of the action of the other end of the state.

In eastern Kentucky the towns of Morehead, Pikeville, Ashland, Louisa, and Paintsville already have indicated a desire to secure the school, while Mayfield, Paducah and Princeton have been mentioned as likely contenders in the western field.

WANTS ONE DOG PER FAMILY FREE OF TAX

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Jan. 10—"At least one dog is a necessity to the mountaineer of Kentucky and the dogs of the mountains save far more sheep during a year than they kill," said N. T. Hopkins, of Yager, representative in the Kentucky House of Representatives from Pike county, in commenting on a proposed bill altering the dog tax law.

Mr. Hopkins, who formerly was a member of Congress, said that in his opinion the law should exempt one dog for each person. "The mountain man," said Mr. Hopkins, "must have his dog. He needs him for the protection of his live stock as well as for hunting. Wildcats and other savage animals kill many sheep in the mountains during the year and would kill many more but for the activity of our dogs."

"We usually know where our dogs are and have them trained so that we can find them. If I step out of my house and blow my horn, I know my dog is going to come to me at once."

"I believe that every man should be allowed at least one dog of one year of age or over without taxation. I have no objection to all dogs over one for each man being taxed, but this one should be free, for if properly handled, he will more than make up for the damage done by improperly trained dogs in running or killing sheep."

Mr. Hopkins made his race for representative on a platform calling for a repeal of the dog tax insofar as it affects one dog to the man.
